

The Republican.

L. W. GRANT, Publisher.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1891.

Mr. Kolb has turned the office of Commissioner of Agriculture over to Mr. Lane.

Gen. Wm. H. Forney, and Hon. L. W. Grant left Thursday evening to attend political speaking at Peaceburg Friday.

The political clouds are rolling by in Calhoun and the Democratic skies are shining brightly as of yore. It will be as the REPUBLICAN has always said. Our people will stand united in 1892.

Col. Dunham the railroad magnate who killed James Cunningham recently in Montgomery for alleged slander of his (Dunham's) wife has had a preliminary examination and been remanded to jail without bail.

The county court disposed of 85 cases for year ending September 30, 1891, and only three of these cases were appealed to the Circuit Court. One of these appealed cases the county court did not have jurisdiction to try. This is a fine showing.

With the sale of the Piedmont Post, Mr. Brewster will be probably lost to Journalism in Calhoun. This is to be regretted. He is a most capable young man and conducted a paper of which he might well be proud. We wish him abundant success in any new field of endeavor.

The County Alliance held its session at Peaceburg the 4th. Dr. Groce spoke. A picnic dinner was spread for the refreshment of delegates and guests. About one hundred and fifty people attended. President Adams was advertised to be present, but for some reason did not attend.

Anniston is taking on its wonted activity again and business has greatly revived. The coming year will be a most prosperous one and that vigorous city will rapidly recover from the depression caused by the shutting down of some her important enterprises. New enterprises are being projected and everything looks bright for the brave young city, the pride of Calhoun and of Alabama.

As will be seen from clipping from the Piedmont Inquirer, elsewhere printed in these columns, the two papers of Piedmont have been merged into one by the purchase of the Post by the Inquirer. This is altogether better for Piedmont, as it will enable her people to give a more generous support to the surviving paper and yet further improve it, if any room there be for improvement. The paper is already the best weekly in the State in typographical make-up and editorial ability. Continued success to the Inquirer is the wish of the REPUBLICAN.

The Alabama Senate passed a bill to prevent members of the Legislature from receiving free passes. It was strangled in the House, as were all other measures looking to the regulation of the railroads. The Georgia Legislature has just followed suit by pigeon-holing a bill to prevent members of the Legislature from accepting free passes. "Reformers" should be above the temptation offered by a free pass over the railroads, but "reformers" are only human like other people at last. Some day voters will find this fact, and "reformers" will not be in such demand as they appear to be at present.

The Supreme Court decided the Lane-Kolb contest over which should be Commissioner of Agriculture in favor of Lane. Three of the Court held that the Governor had the right to appoint Kolb's successor at the expiration of his term Sept. 1st. Two of the Court dissented from this view and held that the office of Commissioner was vacant from the passage of the act of February 18th making the office elective. The entire Court agreed that Commissioner Kolb had no right to hold over after the expiration of his term September 1st. Mr. Lane is now Commissioner under the decision of the highest judicial tribunal in the State. Mr. Kolb has accepted this fact and announced from the stump that he is now out of office. It is now in order for the State press to let the matter drop.

Col. Oates Bringing Back His Friends. GENEVA, Oct. 5.—Col. W. C. Oates to-day delivered an informal address to an audience of about two hundred at the court house. As was generally known throughout the county that there would be no court here this term, but few were in town besides the one who was to speak there Wednesday. Three-fourths of those present to-day were Alliance men. They listened with a close interested attention and several times applauded him. As is announced he will speak on Wednesday when a large crowd will no doubt hear him. There is no doubt but that the tide is turning and that Col. Oates is regaining many of his friends and supporters in this county.

The farmers as a general thing, do not understand much about the tariff, but when they know that under the McKinley bill it takes three pounds of cotton to pay for the increase of the price of the tin it takes to wrap up a bale, then it comes close home to them, and they know there is a big slice of Republican rascality somewhere.—Gadsden Times-News.

The Foreman of the REPUBLICAN office takes advantage of the absence of Mr. Grant to insert the following complimentary notice of him by the Piedmont Inquirer, edited by Col. Robt. McKee.

SENATOR GRANT.

Senator Grant, of Jacksonville, who had not visited Piedmont in a year before, "took in" the town on Saturday last, and appeared pleasantly surprised at the good shape in which it had pulled through the hard times of the season that is past.

He saw fine business houses and handsome residences and an imposing factory being built, and many industries in operation, and merchants with well-stocked stores and houses full of customers, and life on all sides, and heard of other improvements soon to be undertaken.

He met many friends here, who served with him in arduous campaigns and fought by his side in bloody battles, who saw him when but a stripling in years grasp with gentle touch and firm hand the leadership of the party in the county, who have supported him in conventions and applauded him in the legislature, and who respect and admire and honor him and will stand by him in the future as they have in the past.

It goes without the saying, that all of his friends here have not at all times agreed with him on all of them are now in entire accord with him touching some matters of public concern; but they know that thinking men must often differ as to the best means of accomplishing any particular result, and that he as honestly as they have at heart, and trust and follow him with all the more confidence because he has the courage of his convictions in opposition to their opinions.

Mr. Grant is understood to be a candidate for congress in this district. If so, he will find here, among those who have known him longest and best, his warmest supporters, who know how capable and faithful he has been in all the trusts confided to him, and who believe that if promotion comes to him he will be found wanting in none of the qualities which have distinguished his political career.—Piedmont Inquirer.

Democracy and the Alliance.

Jerry Simpson agrees with Peffer that if "the Alliance movement does no other good it will divide the southern vote." We think Jerry is reckoning on a false calculation in making this assertion. The great bulk of Southern Alliance men, so far as we are able to ascertain, are Democrats and can't be shaken in their allegiance to the party organization.

But assertions like these from Simpson and others, who stand high in the Alliance order, are calculated to make Southern Democrats who are not Alliance men look with some degree of suspicion on their brethren who are. They also afford weapon that may be used effectively against Alliance men who seek nominations for office from the Democratic party.

In view of these facts it seems to us that a wise policy for the Southern Alliance men would be to utterly repudiate every connection with the Peffer and the Simpsons, and all who think the greatest political good can come of dividing the Southern vote.

The continued hobnobbing of President Polk with these Third party statesmen he gets the idea that he is in full sympathy with these intentions and Polk is known to exercise a strong influence on the southern Alliance.

To divide the vote of the Southern whites, and by that means to destroy the Democratic solidity of this section could have but one result, and that would be to put the Republicans in power in both State and National governments. The South would again be at the mercy of the carpet-baggers and the negroes, and Congress would pass a force bill to secure them in their authority.

Worse than that, the relief for which the Alliance men seek would never come. The McKinley tariff would be perpetuated or made worse and all financial legislation would be in the interest of the money lenders and monopolists.

A people could not fall into a more pitiable condition than that to which it would be possible to reduce the white farmers of the South by breaking down its solid Democratic wall. And, by keeping the faith, by continuing the stout fight which they have so valiantly maintained since the revolution of 1874, there is much in store for the Southern farmers.

The promise of complete Democratic control of the Government at a day not very distant was never so bright as now. With that control will come, as certain as the sun shines, tariff reform and the free coinage of silver. With it too, will come the remodeling of the banking laws and other financial legislation in the interest of the people, for the Democratic party has always been the guardian of the people's interest. The farmers of the South will not desert the Democratic party, and they should turn their backs on all enemies of the party who seek to win them from their allegiance.—Age Herald.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., October 2.—A special to the Daily News from Alexander City, Ala., says fire last night burned the Alliance warehouse, three hundred bales of cotton and thirty tons of gunpowder. Loss, $15,000 partial insurance. Cause unknown.

A Georgia Farm. From the Atlanta Journal. Georgia furnishes no more interesting study than the operations of this mammoth farmer.

He owns a first class broad gauge railroad, which runs the distance of seven miles from Dunlap's station on the Athens branch of the Georgia railroad to Smithsonia, his home. He has also about three miles of side-tracks. His cars are pulled by a splendidly built engine having the honest name of Grover Cleveland. He recently built a branch railroad of several hundred yards as a means of economy in hauling food to his cows. He is now extending his road to Danielsville, in Madison county. He has this line already completed to the C. & N. railroad and has just finished a $5,000 trestle. When this line is finished Colonel Smith will own by himself twenty-five miles of railroad.

Colonel Smith owns 16,000 acres of land in Oglethorpe and Madison counties. He runs 200 plows or more, 300 hands, has 600 head of cattle and 250 horses. He makes 2,500 bales of cotton, 20,000 bushels of corn, and other farm products in proportion.

He has his own guano factory, which turns out 5,000 tons a season; his own oil mill, which makes 4,000 barrels a season; his own grist mill, which annually grinds 20,000 bushels; his own brickyard, which manufactures two million brick a year; his own saw mills, annually cut one and three-quarter million feet of lumber.

The summarized annual profits of this great farmer, as given me by himself, are as follows: On oil mill, $3,000; on guano factory, $3,000; on corn and wheat mills, $500, rents on land, $7,000; profit on free-labor wages farm, $4,000; profit on convict farm, $4,000; profit on brickyard, $3,000; profit on railroad, $3,500.

Colonel Smith clears, therefore, annually, $31,000. Most of this money he puts back on his land in new improvements.

In comparison with these accurate and astonishing figures, the story of how he began to make a fortune out of Georgia soil is exceedingly instructive.

In speaking of his life he said: "I was born in Wilkes county. My father had three wives, and the family connections have made me kin to everybody."

I started out poor and had to educate myself. I went to Tennessee to school, because at that time expenses at the state university were higher than I could reach. Somehow I managed to graduate.

"I January, 1866, I started out with exactly $500. I bought 300 acres of poor land and started farming. The first year I lost my $500, and failed to pay anything on my land. In 1867 I continued my farm without a dollar."

"The secret of my success, did you say? I prepared myself well to start on. I have always stuck close to business. I have been economical. I have continually improved my lands by fertilization. I have improved my time as well as I could."

Colonel Smith estimates that he has lost $150,000 since the war in bad security debts. For several years he has averaged entertaining a dozen people every day who have visited his farm to see his gigantic operations. His wealth is now about $750,000.

"Why didn't you ever marry?" I asked. "Because I haven't had time, I reckon," he replied, "for I am in theory a strong advocate of matrimony."

I modestly but judiciously remarked that I had rather be a heathen than an old bachelor. He generously but smilingly retorted, "So had I."

One of his neighbors says of Col. Smith that in his younger days, when he was quite poor, he proposed to a bright widow, who happened to have a fair amount of property. The widow refused, and her manner of refusal gave Col. Smith the impression that she thought he was proposing to her plantation rather than to herself. With honest determination he replied to this insinuation with the words: "I will one day have a cow pen that is bigger than your whole plantation. And the person who tells the joke says that the prophecy has been verified."

THE GOVERNOR WILL SPEAK

To Piedmont Democrats Some Time During This Month.

W. J. Brock Esq., member of the county Democratic Executive Committee wrote to Gov. Jones recently asking him if he would speak in Piedmont if invited, and received the following reply:

STATE OF ALABAMA, Executive Department, Office of the Governor, MONTGOMERY, Sept. 23, 1891.

Hon. W. J. Brock, Piedmont, Ala. DEAR SIR: Thanks for yours of the 24th inst. It will give me great pleasure, later on, if invited by the Democratic Club, to make an appointment to speak at Piedmont. I cannot possibly get away from here until some time in October, but will give a day then. Yours truly, THOS. G. JONES.

DeKalb County was once noted as a grain and grass growing section. People from the Coosa Valley depended, to a great extent, upon Willis Valley for wheat and pork. It was conceded that the lands of the Willis Valley were specially adapted to corn, wheat and clover, and much attention was given to their cultivation and to the raising of hogs, cattle and horses. Such farmers as James Larmore and James Ward usually had a fine drove of hogs for sale every year, and they always found a market.

It was a land of hog and hominy. Now this is all changed. Almost every farmer buys his flour and the fine flouring mills on the Willis creek have ceased to be profitable. Wheat is no longer raised and pork to a limited extent only. Fully one-third of our people depend entirely upon the north west for meat and lard. We do not raise enough corn, by a considerable amount, for home consumption, and the deficiency must likewise be supplied from the great granary of the world, the north west. Not because we cannot raise corn, wheat, clover, hogs, cattle and horses, but because we have found out in recent years that we can raise cotton. It is this fact that has caused the great change that has come over the spirit of our dreams. It is this that leads the air with the odor of the omnipresent guano in the spring and fills the records of our country with the ever accompanying mortgage. Cotton should make us the richest agricultural people in the world, but instead it makes us among the poorest. It makes our people hewers of wood and drawers of water.

Every year millions of dollars are poured into the south to pay for our cotton, and every year it as surely takes its way back whence it came to pay the debts we have contracted for meat and bread and manufactured articles, all of which we should produce right here at home.

Here is a vast field for the farmers' organizations in the south. Provisions are high and will likely continue so for two years more at least. Cotton is low and will continue so as long as we raise enormous crops. The south would get about as much money for a half crop of cotton as for a full crop. Curtail the cotton crop and raise more grain and grass. Go back to corn and wheat, clover and hogs. Raise everything we consume when we can raise it, and let the cotton be so much surplus. Then will the southern farmer be independent and prosperous. This would be worth more to the south than all the Ocala demands.—Fort Payne Journal.

TEN KILLED AT A TIME.

Merciless Slaughter of Negro Rioters in Arkansas. MEMPHIS, October 2.—Ten of the Lee county, Arkansas, negro rioters were killed with bullets Wednesday. The news of the tragedy only reached here yesterday. Ever since the shooting of Overseer Mills the citizens of the neighborhood have been in a state of excitement and the affair of Wednesday was the culmination.

Tuesday night Ben Patterson, the leader of the colored rioters, who had been badly wounded, was put on board a steamer in charge of the deputy sheriff.

At Hacktop landing fifteen men armed with Winchester's boarded it and demanded Patterson.

The trembling wretch was carried ashore, and as the boat pulled out a volley from the Winchester's told the story of his fate.

The Lloyds then struck across the country to intercept Sheriff Derry, who was known to be proceeding to Marianna jail with nine fugitives captured.

These were met a mile or so inland, and the crowd told the nine negroes from their guards to an open space in the wood and mercilessly shot them down. The general feeling is intensely bitter against J. F. Frank, the owner of the plantation where the trouble occurred.

DEMOCRATS OF BEAT NINE.

Meet and Organize Themselves Into a Club.

Pursuant to a call the Democrats of beat nine met in the Board of Trade rooms Saturday afternoon and organized the Piedmont Democratic club. About fifty of the best citizens of the beat joined.

The following officers were elected: W. M. Elgin, president; W. J. Brock, vice-president, and E. D. McClellan, secretary.

Meetings will be held only once a month—on Saturday before the 3rd Sunday, at 3 p. m.—until further notice.—Piedmont Post.

ALLIANCE NEWS.

VARIOUS KINDS FROM VARIOUS QUARTERS.

A people's Party newspaper has been established in Atlanta. In its opening number it says:

"We believe that Col. Livingston will be with us in the People's party February 22, 1892. We believe further that if he is not he will feel mighty lonesome sitting off to himself shortly afterwards."

In the earlier days of the republic our forefathers fought and apparently buried forever the doctrine of centralization and paternalism in the government. In these latter times those doctrines are reappearing in more insidious forms, as in the sub-treasury scheme, and it behooves those who cherish the principles of Democracy to fight them with all their strength.—Atlanta Journal.

The Washington correspondent of the Macon Telegraph says that Col. Polk's term as president of the Alliance will expire in three months, and that it is understood that Polk favors Livingston, of Georgia, as his successor.

It is ridiculous to say that you are a friend to the alliance, but will not endorse its platform. You cannot divide the two, and must accept both together or neither. What would the alliance be without a platform and declaration of principles? It would be but a rope of sand, that must soon fall to pieces. There is nothing in a name, but the aims which an organization is striving represents a great deal. If you cannot endorse the Ocala platform you are not a friend to the alliance, and it is hypocrisy to pose as such. That instrument is the tie that binds our members together, and its demands the goal for which they are striving. You had as well profess to be a friend to the Christian church and deny the divinity of our Savior. If you love the alliance, you must also love our platform. They are one and inseparable.—Southern Alliance Farmer.

To Fight For Democracy.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., October 2.—The State Democratic Executive committee convened here and called session to-day. The only business transacted was the introduction of a resolution by Mr. S. A. Champion, which calls for a thorough organization of the party and an expression of opinion on the current issues from all democrats.

It also urges that legislators, congressmen and prominent politicians canvass the state in the interest of the principles laid down in the present democratic platform.

Mr. J. C. Wickes has bought of Messrs. Brewster the business and good will of the Piedmont Post and of the job printing office connected with it. This purchase includes the subscription list of the Post, and its contracts for advertising and job work. After this week the Inquirer will be sent to all of the Post's subscribers, and every possible effort will be made to make the change acceptable to them.—Piedmont Inquirer.

A NOVELTY IN JOURNALISM.

Sixteen Pages in two issues a Week For a Dollar.

The Montgomery Advertiser has inaugurated some features in connection with its weekly that are not attempted at the price by any other paper in the United States.

It is now a sixteen page paper, and instead of the whole being sent out on the same day, it is issued in two sections of eight pages each one section of which is made up and mailed on Wednesday morning and the other on Saturday morning.

The result is that the readers don't have to wait a whole week for the news, then to read matter four, five and six days old. They get the news twice a week.

No other paper in the country issues a 16-page paper at $1.00 per year, and none east of the Mississippi makes two issues a week at that price.

The Advertiser has all the general news and family miscellany that one can desire, including the popular "Rufus Sanders" farmer articles. And besides it has more Alabama news than any other paper anywhere.

Its politics are sound, clean and clear-cut. It is emphatically for straight Democracy, squarely against the Republican party's reckless oppression of the people through the tariff and by contracting the currency, strongly opposed to any division of the white people by a third party, and corruption and demagogism in all parties.

It is well printed on large type and is the cheapest paper in the world—16 pages, in two issues per week, at $1 per year. Send for sample copies. Trial subscriptions for three months only 25 cents. Now is the time, because there is going to be big news this fall and winter, in consequence of the National and State campaigns now well started.

The recently elected United States Senator of Georgia, General John B. Gordon, says:

Mr. A. K. Hawkes—Dear Sir: The pantoscopic glasses you furnished me some time since give excellent satisfaction. I have tested them by use, and must say they are unequalled in clearness and brilliancy by any that I have ever worn.

Tax Collector's Appointments.

I will attend the following appointments for the purpose of collecting the State and County tax of Calhoun county, Ala., for the year 1891. All tax is delinquent after the last day of December 1891. I earnestly request every one to pay taxes by that date and avoid the penalty fixed by law. After the first of January I will proceed as the law directs. It requires all the time allowed by law for me to close up accounts with the State and County, and it is absolutely necessary for me to enforce collections within that limit.

I will be in Jacksonville the last ten days in December for the purpose of collecting State and County Tax from all parts of the County.

Non-Resident Notice
STATE OF ALABAMA,
Calhoun County.
In Chancery at Jacksonville, Alabama, Ninth District, Northeastern Chancery Division.
John W. Simmons vs. Mittie Simmons.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register, by the affidavit of J. J. Crook, complainant's solicitor that the defendant Mittie Simmons is a non-resident of the State of Alabama and that she resides in the State of Georgia Post office unknown to affiant, and further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the defendant is over the age of twenty years. It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication be made in the Jacksonville Republican a newspaper published in the County of Calhoun Ala., once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her said Mittie Simmons to answer or demur to the same, within thirty days after the 15th day of September 1891, and failing to do so a decree pro confesso will be taken against her in said cause.
Done at office, in Jacksonville, this 10th day of August 1891.

POWDERLY PEPPERED.

Head of the Knights Questioned by Democrats in the District.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 4.—A circular letter, numerously signed by Democratic Knights of Labor, will be addressed to General Master Wokman Powderly, protesting against the deal made with Senator Quay for the labor vote. A copy of this letter fell into the hands of a newspaper man to-day. It says among other things: "Through the disreputable deal of these two political hucksters, who are posing as apostles of the Knights of Labor organizations, Mike Butler and Jim Wright, of Philadelphia, the friends of labor in Pennsylvania are in a serious dilemma. A division is likely to arise if the contention is maintained."

"Mr. Powderly had the opportunity of his life. When he accepted a place on the Republican ticket, in compliance with the terms of a deal made between Boss Quay, Butler and Wright, he became a party to this suspicious transaction, and if he goes into the field to defend Messrs. Wright and Butler in their attempt to pervert the record of many members who participated in the proceedings of the last Legislature; if he supports Messrs. Butler and Wright in their attempt to deliver the labor vote to the Republican party this year, and in the deal which they have made to deliver the vote of the laboring people of Pennsylvania in the interest of the Republican candidates to the Legislature next year, with a view of returning Boss Quay to the United States Senate, he will be open to the suspicion of all as a party to the transaction."

"Mr. Powderly can, by maintaining a dignified position and by asserting to the people of Pennsylvania that he desires a Constitutional Convention, that he is a candidate-at-large to that convention, and that he wishes the votes of all the people who are in favor of a convention and leaving his case rest upon that, invite the support of all citizens."

"Mr. Powderly, can you not see that you are being made a tool of by the selfish political labor hucksters who desire to accomplish their purposes, even at the expense of the organization which they are members of, and at the expense of your good name? What answer can you make to the laboring men of Pittsburgh, if, by keeping up this contention, you destroy the organization?"

"Will the cause of organized labor be benefited by the disreputable exhibition of selfishness and by the association of the leaders of organized labor with a boss in the Republican party whose name is besmirched in every section of the United States as being a man who is without honor, without integrity, and who will spare no effort and neglect no means to accomplish success for the Republican party; the friend of corporations and the godfather of monopoly? Everywhere throughout Pennsylvania organized labor awaits your decision."

ILLINOIS' MORTGAGE DEBT.

Chicago Leads the List Over the States of Kansas, Iowa, Alabama, and Tennessee.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The census office made a statement showing that the real estate mortgages in force in Illinois in January, 1890, was $381,299,869, of which $165,289,222 was on acre tracts and $219,010,647 on village and city lots. The debt of Cook County, containing Chicago, was $191,518,209, of which $14,695,205 was on acres and $177,452,904 on lots. The debt of seven other principal counties was as follows: Kane $5,515,508; LaSalle, $3,990,452; McLean, $3,970,309; Peoria, $3,383,922; St. Clair, $3,134,309; Sangamon, $3,551,540; and Will, $3,465,917. The Cook County debt is 49.84 per cent. of the debt of the State and the debt of the eight counties named is 60.96 per cent. of the total. Fifteen principal counties, in which are included the preceding eight and Adams, Bureau, Carthage, Iroquois, Livingston, Vermilion and Winnebago Counties, owe $262,221,091 of the State's total debt. In these fifteen counties are situated the cities of Chicago, Peoria, Springfield, Bloomington, Joliet, Quincy, Elgin, East St. Louis, Aurora, Ottawa, Streator, Belleville, Danville and Rockford. The debt of Chicago is $24,373,770 larger than the farm debt of Kansas, $12,702,594 larger than the farm debt of Iowa, and $112,068,830 larger than the mortgage debt of Alabama and Tennessee.

THIRD PARTY RESOLUTIONS

Passed by the Abner Primary Alliance in Marshall County.

Special to Birmingham Age Herald.

GUNTERSVILLE, Oct. 2.—I herewith enclose a copy of resolutions which were unanimously adopted at a meeting of the citizens of Crawford beat, one of the largest beats in this (Marshall) county.

The following is a true copy of the resolutions as they were adopted: "We the democrats of Crawford beat, assembled at Arab, September 26, 1891,

Whereas, The Democratic Executive committee of the state of Alabama, has recommended the organization of democratic clubs in every precinct in the state and,

Whereas, We believe that said organization was recommended by the Montgomery Advertiser and the pliotocrat system, to defeat the wishes of the laboring people;

Therefore, Be it resolved that we most earnestly protest against the organization of said democratic club in our precinct, as it would be likely to create a division among our people.

Resolved, That we will not support any party that does not include in its platform the Ocala demands and sub-treasury plan.

Resolved, That if the democratic party of the south does not contain said demands in its platform that we will give our undivided support to the peoples' party."

This seems to be the sentiment of a considerable portion of this county. There have been only two democratic clubs organized in the county, one at this place the other on Sand Mountain.

Crawford beat is one of the strongest alliance precincts in Marshall, and will pull a large vote at each election, a big majority of which is republican.

The people of the State were promised, when the Legislature convened, a business session of fifty days, rigid economy, and legislation that would benefit Georgia. The eminent body is still in session at a cost $1500 a day to the State; the rate of taxation has been raised and valuable hours have been wasted in the discussion of measures which have effected confidence abroad in our securities. This is unfortunate. We are afraid the reform Legislature slid into the shoes of their predecessors too easily.—Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer Sun.

A Moscow correspondent of the London Standard reports the success and large increase of cotton production in Turkistan. He says the cotton crop of that country this year is expected to amount to 3,500,000 pounds against 2,700,000 last year. The experiments now being made with improved labor-saving machines and irrigating, planting, etc., if successful, will result in a still more rapid increase. A Russian pound is about 36 English pounds; so that the Turkistan crop of this year is estimated at about 252,000 of our 500-pound bales.

L. W. GRANT, Publisher.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1891.

SPEAKING AT PEACEBURG.

By invitation Gen. Forney and Mr. L. W. Grant addressed the farmers of Cane Creek valley and surrounding country at Peaceburg Friday the 13th inst. Notwithstanding the fact that the good people of that neighborhood had fed delegates and visiting members of the County Alliance Tuesday and Wednesday of that same week, there was a splendid dinner spread under the spreading oaks ample to feed the gathering and to spare. The ladies of the valley lent their presence to grace the occasion and listened to the discussion of political principles and the dry recitation of statistical facts and figures with as much attention as did the sovereign voters themselves; and at the conclusion of each of the speeches, they attested their appreciation by the presentation of magnificent floral tributes to the speakers by the hands of two of the most beautiful, graceful and accomplished young ladies of the valley—veritable lillies of the valley amid all the profusion of loveliness that adorns that beautiful country like a garden of flowers. The attendance was flattering to the speakers, the day was perfect, everybody was in fine humor and it was good to be there. The audience was composed of Alliancemen and men who do not belong to the order—all good democrats. The speakers discussed democratic principles, contrasted them with some of the Ocala demands, corrected some prevalent errors calculated to dissatisfy the people and wear them from their old party, in fair and temperate spirit, without abuse of anybody. They were listened to with the profoundest attention and frequently applauded, and the result was good for the Democracy. It has come to the knowledge of the writer that some men present who were before greatly dissatisfied have changed opinion on current issues and henceforth stand, as they have always stood, by the old landmarks and the men who have always stood by them in the dark days of their trial and their peril.

The people of Calhoun are the truest people to principle in the world, and they are slow to drop old friends for new ones. This county sent more men to the Confederate army than it had voters, and in the days when the people of the South banded themselves into a "solid" phalanx for white supremacy and home rule, it was the distinction of being the banner county of the State. That same noble spirit resides in the hearts of the people of Calhoun yet. They have only to know the right to pursue it. Like all brave and generous people they are easily inflamed at any kind of injustice and may for the moment be misled by adroit men who arouse passion to blind judgment; but they cannot be weaned from their lifelong principles and convictions, and in the end always do right. This paper has never lost faith in them. It has said all that they will stand united in 1892. It will be so.

Mr. J. A. Bingham's effort to have the alliance of Talladega county boycott the Mountain Home did not succeed. His own alliance passed resolutions threatening such a thing, but this moved the Wewoka alliance to resolve to stand by and support the Home and moved the Talladega county alliance to tender the Home a vote of thanks for its treatment of the alliance. The mass of aliancemen in Talladega believe in freedom of the press and are too good democrats to assist a republican in an attempt to either muzzle the press or disrupt their party.

Capt. Jas. H. Savage, of Anniston, is announced by the press as a candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture. He is well qualified for the place and has a strong following in the State. Several of the State papers have spoken well of his candidacy, among them the Montgomery Journal, which says:

"Capt. James H. Savage of Calhoun is announced as a candidate for state agricultural commissioner. Capt. Savage is well known in the state, having at one time been a formidable candidate for state auditor in which contest he made many friends and captured the hearts of his acquaintances. He is a large land owner, and a successful farmer. He will make a formidable candidate."

Hatchett Creek Alliance, in Clay county, have published resolutions in the Alliance Herald denouncing both the Republican and Democratic parties as enemies and welcoming and endorsing the new People's Party. These same men will, no doubt, be active in the secret caucuses which will seek to dictate who shall be the nominees of the democratic party in Clay next year.

Arrangements are about to be made by which the two coke furnaces of Anniston will be put in and kept in blast. It is probable that Mr. Steve Noble will have a lease of them. He will run them successfully, if any man can. He is one of the most successful iron makers in the South.

Parties from Jacksonville who attended the masonic gathering at Alexandria Tuesday say they had a most pleasant time and that the hospitality of those people was unfounded. Alexandria, they say, does anything by halves. Several of the neighboring lodges were represented.

A PROMINENT ALLIANCEMAN Gives His Reasons for Withdrawing From the Order.

FREDMONT, ALA., Oct. 13, '91. ED. REPUBLICAN:—My attention has been called to the following equivil which appeared in a recent issue of the Oxford Voice:

"P. H. Brewster, late editor of the late official organ of the county Alliance has fallen from grace, denied the faith and gone back to the degenerate element of the world and partisan politics."

Now the above is not only false in syntax, but it is false in other particulars. In the first place it is false in declaring that I have "denied the faith," if it means faith in the principles of the alliance to which I subscribed several years ago; and in the second place it is false in stating that I have gone into "partisan politics," as I do not belong to the Ocala Alliance, and never did subscribe to or endorse its principles; and besides this, I have not gone into any other political party, but simply remain in the Democratic party where I have been ever since the war. Neither is it true that I have "fallen from grace," in the sense implied in the statement copied from the Voice. In passing I will say that I don't think the editor of that paper is in danger of falling from anything, for reasons that are obvious. He and his illustrious mugwump friend and predecessor, W. O. Butler, defunct, made a contemptible effort to boycott my paper at a county alliance meeting last year, and signally failed, and I suppose he still entertains a grudge against me on that account, for it is a well known fact, that when a man attempts to injure another without provocation, he is always his bitter enemy afterwards, especially when he fails to accomplish his object. I was in hopes since I retired from journalism and withdrew from the Ocala Alliance, with the determination to attend strictly and exclusively to my own private business, that I would no more be annoyed by the nibbling of minnows or the barking of fies; but it seems that my hopes were vain. Now with all such I am willing to make a child's bargain; if they will let me alone I will let them alone. Of the editor of the Voice I make the special request, that if he thinks proper hereafter to say anything about me, that he will confine himself to the truth, and express himself grammatically, if he can.

I suppose I have given offence to the right of a freeman by declaring my opposition to certain features of the Ocala platform, and for this cause some of them have condemned and ostracised me, declaring that I was not a true alianceman; and in conformity to this proscription and intolerant sentiment, the Rev. Mr. Adams, president of the State Alliance, issued a solemn edict, some months ago, commanding that all of my way of thinking be forthwith expelled from the order without ceremony, trial by jury, or the benefit of clergy. That was an alarming proclamation, coming as it did from such high authority, the grand cockalorum of the order in the State, and in fearful suspense I waited for the execution of the sentence that would settle my doom; but for some reason it was not carried out in a single instance, so far as I know; and as they would not or could not excommunicate me, I voluntarily, and of my own free will and accord withdrew from the organization, believing as I did then, and do now believe, that its designing, demagogic leaders had entirely lost sight of its original principles and purposes, were endeavoring to deceive the masses of laboring men, by making them glittering and false promises, which they well knew were impracticable and could never be fulfilled, and were using the alliance to subvert their own political aspirations and ends, intending finally to disrupt, divide and destroy the Democratic party, which I honestly and conscientiously believe is the only party that ever can or ever will give the country relief from misrule, unjust legislation and oppression, and guarantee and secure to the South, states rights and white supremacy.

I was reared on a farm and have been a farmer all my life, and I joined the alliance with the distinct understanding that its obligations would not conflict with my political or religious opinions, and that its sole object was to elevate and help those who are engaged in agricultural pursuits, and to promote economic measures in a non partisan spirit; but when the Ocala platform was engraved in the organization and declared to be the main and most important part of its principles, by the usurped authority of its leaders, my political opinions were seriously interfered with, for I had never subscribed to some of the radical measures contained in that document and never intended to; I was not in sympathy with them nor with those who endorsed, advocated and endeavored to force freemen to accept them, and be denounced as traitors and rebels by fanatics in the order. I therefore determined to abandon an association with the objects of which I was no longer in sympathy, as I did not wish to sail under false colors and in a ship whose commanders I could neither respect nor obey, a ship which I believed was soon to be wrecked or to be the means of wrecking the Democratic party, and with it the country, farmers and all.

I have no axe of my own, not even a hatchet to grind, and shall never, if I know what I am doing, help to turn a stone for the purpose of sharpening the axes of those who would cut to pieces the party which has been for thirty years, battling against fearful odds for good government and the rights of the people; and paused be the arm that shall seek its destruction! In conclusion let me remark that I sincerely hope that the feet of fieses which are so diligently seeking certain prominent politicians in Ocala alliance circles, may not be able to outrun and to embrace them against their will! It would be far better for the country to let them fall quietly and easily into obscurity again where they can do no harm.

P. H. BREWSTER.
Field Observations by Amateur Geologist.

In company with our teacher, Prof. W. H. McKee, the class in Geology took an excursion to the stone quarry which is situated nearly a mile west of town. It was a pleasant, instructive trip, for there we had, laid open to our view, the results of some of the mighty forces which have from time immemorial been influencing the structure and contour of our earth. Every thing appeared in a new light; things that had perhaps been seen a hundred times before, and passed by as exceedingly unattractive, seemed now as it were, to be possessed with new life. Our eyes rested on things brimming with interest. There we saw evidences of those mighty upheavals, and subsidences which have determined continents, and prescribed the beds of the deep.

Along the tram road leading to the quarry, there were places which showed the crumbling of the strata and beautifully illustrated anticline, and syncline, lamination, and the sorting power of water.

Here we also found the fossil remains of some pre-historic reptile which, could it speak, would have stories new and strange to impart to the seekers after the hidden secrets of nature.

In the quarry upon beds of shale are found the thick layers of calcareous sandstone, in which were plainly exemplified joints and cross sectionings.

Here, Prof. McKee pointed out a formation similar to that found at Niagara Falls, the hard calcareous sandstone above, and underneath, the softer beds of shale.

And as we turned to wend our way homeward from the place of so many interesting sights, I could not help but reflect that no matter where we turn our steps, we still may revel in the entrancing grandeur of nature, and through all, and in all, we can see the Divine hand, tracing in imperishable characters, the record of the ages; and in the presence of those evidences of Divinity, the handiwork of God, how oft are we wont to exclaim, "What is man, that Thou art mindful of him."

SENIOR MEMBER,
State Normal School.

A GRAND SUCCESS.

REGULAR DEMOCRATIC LOVE FEAST AT PEACEBURG.

General Forney and Hon. L. W. Grant Speak Friday to a Large Assemblage of Enthusiastic Farmer Democrats.

From the Anniston Hot Blast.

That was a grand Democratic rally at Peaceburg Friday.

It would have done every true Democrat's heart good to have been there to have seen with what enthusiasm the old time Democratic doctrine was received from the lips of Gen. Forney and Senator Grant.

In fact, it was a regular Democratic love feast—a Democratic camp meeting so to speak. Peaceburg is noted for its magnificent hospitality far and wide, and on this occasion the reputation of Alexandria Valley was nobly sustained.

A large assemblage of farmers, their wives, daughters and sons were present to hear Gen. Forney and Mr. Grant speak in opposition to the Ocala platform and in defense of old time Democratic principles. They were cheered and encouraged from start to finish, and at the conclusion of each of the speeches the fair ladies present presented magnificent floral tributes. The women, God bless them, are always right, and when they are right it follows as the day the night that the men cannot be otherwise.

The crowd was much larger than that out a few days before to hear Mr. Adams. It was the impression of conservative men present that much good was accomplished.

Hon. W. P. Cooper, our last representative in the legislature, introduced the speakers in most felicitous terms. Those who have been nursing the delusion that Alexandria Valley is going to run off after strange gods, are going to be badly fooled. That is one of the most cultured, intelligent, refined communities in Alabama, and they are too true to themselves, their country and their God to be caught napping at the post of duty when danger threatens the grand old Democratic ship.

Three cheers and a tiger for the gallant men and noble women of Peaceburg neighborhood.

Abandoning the Ocala Platform.

DUKE, ALA., Oct. 14.—The farmers' Alliance here have torn loose from the sub-treasury and Ocala platform. Their eyes are again open to the light of true Democracy, and we think the rest of our good farmers will soon see the error of their ways and come to the front again hallowing for true Democracy.—Anniston Hot Blast.

Edwardsville New Era: President Adams, of the Alabama State Alliance, was not well informed or else he made a big mistake in his Birmingham speech, when he said that eighty per cent of the voting population of the United States was engaged in agricultural pursuits. The census bureau says that about thirty percent is thus engaged.

Dothan Siftings: The Alliance has

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

What the State Papers Have to Say About Men and Things.

Eutaw Whig: A few aspiring clerks, who have failed to get promotion from the private ranks of political life, get together with a bushel of impracticable ideas, and start a third party. It forthwith jumps with feet, upon everything and everybody that differs with it, thunders and vituperates for a brief season, drops into nothingness, and the world moves on as if it had never been.

Troy Messenger: It is now plain that Alabama has had only one Commissioner of Agriculture at any one time. Gov. Jones has always been good authority on law.

Florence Banner: Now that this vexed question of the Commissioner-ship of Agriculture has been settled by the highest tribunal in the State we hope to hear but little more from, or of the man who has been of so much annoyance to the people of the State of late. Let him step down and out as gracefully as he possibly can, and give the State a rest.

Talladega Mountain Home: Times are getting better, and before a great while we expect to see capital coming South, seeking investment in our mineral, timber and farming lands, and when it comes Talladega county will receive its share, as there is not a more favored spot to be found.

Columbiana Chronicle: That Adams and Kolb denied at Childersburg that they favored the third party movement does not in the least surprise us. Their political chestnuts are not quite roasted enough for them to invite their dupes to a feast of third party kernels, but they will crack the hulls by and by and open up the feast. Mark the prediction.

Talladega Mountain Home: Did you know that men who have always voted the Republican ticket are engaged in organizing lodges and lecturing Alliancemen in this county? These gentlemen are enemies to Democracy and tariff reform, and will create a division, if they can.

Columbiana Chronicle: Another great plutoocratic outrage against the Alliance—kicking Kolb out of the office that he did not have a shadow of legal right to hold. Now let Adams whine like a whangadoodle mourning for its first born.

Sheffield Enterprise: When the sub-treasury is established, for the purpose of raising the price of cotton, the only way for all to share, is for all to join one huge trust. That is monopoly. Such a law will benefit one set of men. That is class legislation. Both are undemocratic.

Bibb Blade: Democrats must not step around on tiptoes for fear of disturbing the sub-treasuryites and high tariff kings. The fight is on hand and we must meet it. The sooner clubs like those at Randolph and Brifield, with platforms condemning the third party are organized, the better.

Coosa River News: But the Democratic party is booted and spurred—in the saddle with a storm coat on, and don't you fail to remember that in the year of grace 1892, a wet blanket will envelop every mother's son-of-a-gun who is engaged in trying to wreck the white man's party of the South, and on its ruins, under the plausible name of the People's party, mean to establish an oligarchy composed of a horde of office seekers who are "we, the people."

Livingston Journal: Why should there be any secrecy, and pass-words and grips among "true Democrats" in this Southern country, where Democracy stands for the rule of intelligence and white supremacy?

Tuscaloosa Times: The Times would like to venture the prediction that Gov. Thos. Jones will succeed himself. There is no reason why he should not be given a second term, and the Democrats of the State will look at it in the same light we do.

The oldest person in Alabama, probably in the United States, died Sunday near Talladega at the ripe old age of 127 years. She was born in Virginia, and until within a few days of her death retained vivid recollections of the British army which invaded the Old Dominion during the Revolutionary war. Her name was Celia Garrett, and she was never married. She was a slave before the war.

Columbus, (Ga) Enquirer-Sun: Col. Robert McKee, of the Piedmont Inquirer, has started the boom for Lou Grant as candidate for Congress from the Fourth Congressional district. Col. McKee is a hummer, and he will foster that boom with great vigor. Capt. Grant is State Senator from his district, and is a politician who has few superiors in the State. He would make a good representative.

Roanoke Herald: The formation of Democratic clubs is doing a great work in the State. Clubs are teaching the people what Democracy really is, and bringing them to think for themselves. This course if properly pursued will bring out a campaign of principles, not men. A reformation is badly needed along this line, and we believe that the clubs are going to bring about this much desired end. Let the campaign of education go bravely on.

Edwardsville New Era: President Adams, of the Alabama State Alliance, was not well informed or else he made a big mistake in his Birmingham speech, when he said that eighty per cent of the voting population of the United States was engaged in agricultural pursuits. The census bureau says that about thirty percent is thus engaged.

always been strictly a political organization, and the subject of agriculture has not been in it. Instead of accomplishing good it has engendered more animosity and hatred among the people, and has done more toward disrupting the Democratic party than any organization that we ever knew of. We know that the South, as a whole, is poor—the principal wealth of this union is in the Northern States—but the idea of Southerners arraying themselves against each other by class is simple in the extreme. We defy anyone to show reason why any one class in the South need legislation worse than another. We will welcome the day when our people will be purged of that malice and hatred toward each other that is now the case, and have a feeling of friendship as in days of yore.

The Nashville American says: "In one year the Tennessee Alliance has lost one-fourth of its membership. Its own records show a membership of only 27,000 as against 36,000 one year ago. It was entitled to four delegates at the Ocala convention; it elected but three to the next national convention. The difficulty in collecting dues complained of by President McDowell has a sequel in the failure to meet the payment of the national dues, for which default the Tennessee Farmers' Alliance stands today subject to suspension, if by this time it has not been already suspended. The dues for which it is in arrears are, to the best of our information, about $2,000, and this sum it has been, impossible to raise."

The Gadsden Times and News says: No man should deprive his wife and family of a good newspaper. They do not go out from home to learn the news, as does the husband and father, and the paper serves to relieve some of the otherwise lonely hours of his absence. It is the worst possible economy to deprive the family of a good local newspaper.

This from the Gadsden Times and News is of interest to the farmers of Georgia as well as Alabama: "Mr. F. M. Bishop, of East Gadsden, has undertaken to demonstrate the practicality of making money on the farm, and to hear him give his experience no person could doubt his making a success of it. He always makes five crops of corn, potatoes, turkeys, peas, etc. On an area of one acre he has, in less than twelve months, made three crops. Last winter he gathered and sold 1003 worth of turkeys, and this winter he sold $25 worth of corn. The acre was then planted in peas, and what the result will be he cannot say, but he is satisfied he will realize at least $15 from the peas. Thus the total amount realized from the acre of ground will be $140. Still there are some farmers in this county who contend that farming will not pay. Mr. Bishop's few years ago was a poor man, but today he owns a good farm near Gadsden and he has invested $2500 in a half interest in a nice Coosa river farm in Cherokee county. He belongs to the Farmers Alliance but is opposed to the sub-treasury."

The Age-Herald says: The Republican tables showing that prices were higher in 1847, under a low tariff, than now under the McKinley bill, is a complete fraud, like everything else Republican. Improved machinery and greater production have made the difference. The Courier-Journal challenges the papers that publish these tables to make a comparison between prices in this country and in England. That's the way to tell how the tariff gets in its work.

The Birmingham Age-Herald says: Counting at the rate of $2 a second it would require about six years for a man to count a $1,000,000,000. If a man earned $10 a day it would require 273,980 years and nearly eleven months for him to put to $1,000,000,000 in the savings bank, provided he didn't spend anything in the mean time. Yet, Mr. Reed's Congresses spent $1,000,000,000 of the peoples' money in two or three months and might have spent more with greater exertion.

Demopolis News: The News is in favor of more money individually and collectively, jointly, severally and firmly.

The Piedmont Post says: Mr. J. H. Hall, of Jacksonville, came up to Piedmont last Tuesday to look after the well on his property on the E. & W. R. The Post extends congratulations, and hopes that his most sanguine expectations will be realized, and that our growing town will be greatly benefited by the unexpected discovery.

Intolerance.
A short time since the Talladega Mountain Home, a paper of the utmost liberality in its course towards the Alliance, although not agreeing with many of its demands, saw properly to criticize J. A. Bingham, the leader of the Republican party in that county. Clear Creek Alliance in that county adopted the following resolution:

"That we tender Brother Bingham our thanks for his able address upon Alliance principles, and our heartfelt sympathy to him for the manner in which the Mountain Home attacked him."

The following resolutions were also adopted:

1st. Resolved, That the members of Clear Creek Alliance disapprove of and protest against the vile epithets and denunciations hurled at our ranks by the Mountain Home.

2d. And hereby wish to inform the Editor of the same, that should such continue, that we as a body will no longer subscribe for his paper."

Has it come to such a pass that the Alliance will denounce a newspaper for criticizing the leader of the enemies of the Democracy in a county like Talladega. The Mountain Home referring to this matter says:

"The Home's editorial referred to Mr. Bingham as a Republican, and not as an Allianceman. However, as Mr. Bingham was present when the 'heartfelt' resolution was passed, we suppose he is satisfied."

"The Home has never published any 'vile epithets' against the Alliance, and respectfully asks the gentleman so charging to furnish proof of his assertion."

In this connection the Home has this to say: Mr. Bingham is a Republican, working for the overthrow of the Democratic party. The Home is a Democratic paper, working for the interest of the Democratic party, making it plain that there cannot be political harmony between the two."

If there are any Democrats in that particular Alliance they have a mighty poor idea of what they owe their party as long as they fail to retire from a body which censures a faithful Democratic paper, for criticizing a leading Republican.—Montgomery Advertiser.

DR. LANE NOT A CANDIDATE.

As will be seen by a card published in another column of this morning's Hot Blast, Dr. Lane will not be a candidate for Congress in this district at the next election.

Dr. Lane is considered by many to be one of the ablest preachers of his denomination in the State of Alabama. He is not only an able minister, but is a gentleman of much learning, and is thoroughly posted upon all public questions, and should he have entered the race for Congress and have been elected, he would have been able to have represented the district with credit to himself and constituency.

By special invitation, Dr. Lane has recently made several public addresses, and in every instance has taken the position that the safety of Alabama rests in the hands of the Democracy, and has urged the people not to run off after new and imaginary schemes, but to plant themselves squarely upon the platform of Jeffersonian Democracy.

He is a man who is worthy of any honor which could be given him. He has done much for the educational interests of this county and section, and he will almost certainly be unanimously asked by the next convention in this county to serve another term as Superintendent of Education.—Anniston Hot Blast.

A CARD.

From the Anniston Hot Blast.

My name has for several weeks past been flatteringly connected with the race for Congress in the Fourth district. I want to say to the many friends who have been urging upon me to allow my name to be used by them as a candidate for Congress at the next election, that I am profoundly grateful to them for the manifestations of their confidence and friendship, but after thoughtful consideration I desire to announce that I am not and will not be a candidate for Congress.

My calling will not allow me to make a scramble for any office, but if the people of Calhoun county desire that I serve them in the capacity of County Superintendent of Education, and tender me the office again as they so generously did in the last convention and election, I see no reason why I should not accept it, as the duties of said office in no way conflict with my ministerial calling.

TEXAS Alien Land Law.

WACO, TEX., Oct. 12.—The State of Texas brought suit in the District Court here against Theodore Mallison to escheat his land under the alien land law, Mallison being a subject of Great Britain. Judge Goodrich held that the law was void, inoperative and of no effect, first, because of errors in caption of the bill and secondly, because it is in violation of existing treaties and conventions with other powers. The case was appealed to the Supreme court. There seems to be no doubt that Judge Goodrich will be sustained.

Fourge's Latest.
"Those who may think that the time has come when the Solid South can afford to break ranks, and that there is no more need for the white men of this section standing together in Democratic unity, need to have their attention called to the following screed, printed in a leading Republican paper, the Chicago Inter-Ocean:

An English newspaper received during the week contains an editorial upon Southern lawless violence under the suggestive title, "Is the White South Civilized?" The answer depends upon the standard adopted for ascertaining what civilization is; but if the colored race of the South intelligently unite for the assertion of their rights in the courts of the country, no one can deny that in patience, obedience to law, and enlightened resistance to wrong, they are far and away the superiors of their white neighbors. If the South ever becomes fit for self government, it will be when the methods proposed and advocated by its colored journals prevail rather than through these bloody and infamous ones encouraged and promoted by its white intelligence, white culture and white Christianity."

This is from the pen of that old liar and reprobate, Albion W. Tourgee, who learned as a carpet-bagger to hate the Southern whites, and has spent twenty years in writing villainous slanders against this section. He is personally of no sort of consequence, but his articles are given importance by being printed and endorsed by the Chicago Inter-Ocean.

It will be noticed that he says the Southern white people are incapable of self government. That is Republican doctrine, and the carrying out of that doctrine has only been prevented by the persistent and solid Democracy of the South.

It may yet be carried out if the South allows the sub-treasury third party movement to divide its white vote.—Age Herald.

Tax Collector's Appointments.

I will attend the following appointments for the purpose of collecting the State and county tax of Calhoun county, Ala., for the year 1891. All tax is delinquent after the last day of December 1891. I earnestly request every one to pay taxes by that time and avoid the penalty fixed by law, after the first of January I will proceed as the law directs. It requires all the time allowed by law for me to close up accounts with the State and County, and it is absolutely necessary for me to enforce collections within that limit.

I will be in Jacksonville the last ten days in December for the purpose of collecting State and County Tax from all parts of the County.

GEN. JOS. WHEELER.

His Present Political Status Sound and Democratic.

A correspondent at Scottsboro, writes as follows:

For some weeks prior to the late term of our circuit court the news had been freely circulated by members of the Alliance and persons hostile to the Democratic party, that Gen. Wheeler had joined the Alliance and "swallowed the Ocala demands and all." The insinuations were strong that Gen. Wheeler could not and would not, under his new obligations longer give his unqualified support to the Democratic party. The announcement that Gen. Wheeler would on a day designated address the people brought out a considerable crowd. Conspicuous in the audience were our "Third party" leaders and advocates, with faces bright, seemingly with expectation that while they would hear words of encouragement that Democrats would be saluted with discordant notes from the lips of one whom they had delighted to follow, with their eyes, and confidence. Gen. Wheeler conceded that the agricultural classes had great grievances for which he held the Republican party responsible and ably exonerated the Democratic party. He advocated State banks of issue under authority of Congress to supply all the currency demanded at a low rate of interest but with full purchasing power. When interrogated as to what was essential to give such currency "full purchasing power," he conceded that nothing short of ample provision for ultimate redemption in gold and silver coin would accomplish such result. General Wheeler is in heart and speech and hopes with the Democracy. He believes that there is no just grounds for expectation and hope, except through Democratic success in 1892.

Those who were building their hopes upon his disaffection are doomed to disappointment.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS.

The Democratic Outlook in Ohio Has Visibly Grown Rosier.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 5.—The most noticeable feature in the Ohio campaign is the fact that the work of Democratic orators on the stump is forcing the Republicans to abandon their subterfuge issue, the coinage question, and devote all their energies to the defense of the tariff stand the party took when it nominated McKinley to be its standard bearer. McKinley's nomination was made against the advice of the most sagacious leaders of the Republican party, who saw in the election of last year and the year before the repudiation of high tariff by the people of Ohio, but it was the logic of events. The defeat of McKinley for Congress necessitated his nomination for Governor. That he is a weak candidate if forced to stand upon his own work the course of the party in this campaign plainly shows. Governor Campbell is proving very effective on the stump, and is waging a vigorous campaign. His powerful arguments are astounding Republicans, and Chairman Hahn has wisely found an excuse for refusing to arrange another joint debate after the one at Ada.

The law suit against the Governor which some Republican newspapers attempted to use against him as campaign matter has very naturally rebounded to his credit. It has brought to public notice that he is a poor but honest man, one for whom the people can vote and feel proud of the fact.

The Democrats are bringing into the State many able speakers, men of national fame, and this is encouraging the members of the party. On the other hand the Republicans have brought almost no prominent men of their party from outside the State into the campaign. Nor are any now announced to speak. On the whole the prospects have very much improved for Democratic success in Ohio in the last two weeks. The Democrats have put the Republicans on the defensive. The Democrats are united and aroused. The Republicans are divided on the Senatorial question, and there are many defections on account of the tariff question.

Off For Pickens.

In a few days Capt. S. F. Nunnallee will leave for Carrollton, Pickens County, to take charge of the editorial and local department of the West Alabamian.

Capt. Nunnallee will be on his old stamping ground, having once resided in that county. His well known vigor as an editorial writer insures the people of that section of the State a good democratic paper. He is a veteran of two wars, and from what we know of him believe that he would not mind entering another. He is a democrat of the Jeffersonian stamp, and there won't be any Ocala platform frills hanging onto the coat tail of The West Alabamian. He believes in the constitution of our fathers and will resent with all the earnestness of his nature the new fangled innovations concocted by Polk, McCune & Co., especially as he believes them detrimental to the true progress of the country.

He has fought an hundred battles for the grand old democratic ship of state, and not one against it and we hope to see him come back to Anniston with a democratic banner in the button hole of his coat.—Anniston News.

DEFENDED HERSELF

Young Organist Creates a Sensation in a Church.

MILAN, TENN., Oct. 6.—Great excitement was caused in one of the churches here when Miss India Thomas, a former organist at this church stated that she desired to make a statement to the church. The request was granted, when the young lady arose and in a clear voice stated that she was formerly a resident of Connersville, Ind. She came to this town five years ago with her father's family; that she was welcomed into the Baptist Church; was a teacher in the Sunday school, led the choir, worked in the church and did all in her power to uphold the church and work for Christianity; that three or four so-called Christians in the church had tried to blast her reputation by circulating reports which were too vile to repeat and not fit for publication. At the conclusion of her statement the members discussed it and pronounced it true. The debate waxed furious. Resolutions condemning the action of the members and recommending Miss Thomas were passed. A committee was appointed to investigate the charges and a big damage suit is likely to result. The affair is quite sensational, and will be watched with interest by the friends of Miss Thomas here and in her former home.

COL. HERBERT'S SPEECH.

He Talks True Democracy at Pine Apple in Wilcox County.

PINE APPLE, Oct. 10.—The County Alliance of Wilcox met at Pine Apple yesterday.

After the Alliance had finished its business, Col. H. A. Herbert, who had been invited by the Alliance and citizens of Pine Apple and community, was introduced by Prof. G. R. Ellis.

Col. Herbert spoke about an hour, touching all the political topics of the day. His speech was impressive and instructive from beginning to end. He denounced the objectionable features of the Ocala demands in unmistakable language, showing its fallacies in such a logical way as to make a lasting impression.

His audience of five or six hundred gave him the closest attention and afterward expressed themselves as being highly gratified at hearing such an able Democratic speech. Of course a few sub-treasury advocates made a few feeble adverse criticisms, but they were few. The crowd would have been larger had the day of speaking been decided upon sooner, but the day was not set until a few days before.

A large majority of the most prominent voters present insisted that Col. Herbert should represent them. Mr. Beck, the State Alliance Lecturer had an appointment to speak here to-day, but for some reason not yet known, he failed to come.

A Sample Sub-Treasury Argument.

One of the favorite arguments of the advocates of the sub-treasury idea is that they ask no more for the farmer than the government is already doing for another class of citizens, namely, the distillers of whisky.

We have no doubt that many farmers have been deceived by this sort of stuff into the belief that the government builds warehouses in which the distillers may store their whisky and let it lie until it improves in quality and value; that the government loans the distillers, without interest, the amount of money which would go into the treasury if the tax on their whisky were collected at once instead of after three years of mellowing in a government warehouse. There is absolutely no analogy between the sub-treasury idea and the bonding of whisky by the government.

In the first place, the government taxes whisky and derives a large revenue from its manufacture. Not one cent of tax is laid on any of the products which would go into a sub-treasury warehouse.

The whisky distillers build their own warehouses. The government does not contribute one dollar or one brick to their construction. The sub-treasury scheme requires the government to build the warehouses for farm products and to furnish them free to the farmer. The government would not loan the distiller one cent on a million dollars worth of whisky. The sub-treasury bill would require the government to advance 80 per cent of the market value of agricultural products stored in the government warehouses—a market value which fluctuates far more than that of whisky. If a distiller wants to borrow money on his product he must do so at a bank just as a farmer borrows from the banks on his cotton.

It is a mistake to suppose that the government grants time for the payment of the tax on the bulk of the whisky made in this country.

There are two kinds of whisky manufactured in the United States. The smaller distilleries, most of which are in Tennessee, Kentucky and Pennsylvania, make what is called straight whisky. This is only about 20 per cent of the entire whisky product of the United States. The other 80 per cent is made in the great distilleries of Illinois, Ohio and one or two other states and is composed of neutral spirits, colored and flavored with foreign substances. Now, the tax of ninety cents a gallon is laid on the finished product, or on whisky when ready for the market. Straight whisky is not made, that is, it is not ready for the market until three years after distillation. It would be manifestly unjust to require tax paid on it three years before the distiller could sell it. The government, therefore, allows him to build at his expense a warehouse in which his product is stored until it is ready for sale. During this time it is under government seal and control and the distiller must give bond for the payment of the tax when it is due. If the tax be not paid at the expiration of the bonded period the whisky is sold by the government, and if the proceeds do not pay the tax due the bondsmen must make good the deficiency. On the other hand, whisky made from neutral spirits is a finished article as soon as it is colored and flavored. The tax is paid on it at once and it is thrown on the market. The talk about the government extending extraordinary favors to the whisky trust is bosh.

We have explained this matter somewhat at length because it has been frequently said by those who were either ignorant themselves or who desired to deceive others, that the sub-treasury idea was exactly in line with the policy of the government toward the distillers of whisky. We have shown how false this assertion is. This government has never committed itself to anything like the sub-treasury scheme, and it never will, so long as it remains true to its constitutional functions and attends to its legitimate business.

The fact that the advocates of the sub-treasury lay great stress on the policy of the government toward the distillers as furnishing precedent and justification for something radically different, proves to what desperate extremities they are driven when they resort to what they call argument.—Atlanta Journal.

SENSIBLE.

Resolutions of the Anderson (Montgomery County) Sub-Alliance.

The following resolutions offered by Mr. Holt were unanimously adopted and ordered published:

The Anderson Sub-Alliance, being in full sympathy with the farmers' movement in so far as it has for the good of the agricultural interest, a zeal to discuss questions of practical and material interest bearing upon it, and further, being in full accord with the idea of impressing, not only the farmer, but all citizens, with the great importance of a manifestation of the deepest concern at this time—this crisis in public affairs—and further, feeling that in political relation, union and unity are the cardinal and only test in our Southern country of patriotism, be it therefore resolved, first:

That the Alliance being an organization without partisan political character, we will not therefore condemn existing political parties, but will try to reform them, and will discontinue and attempt to ostracize a member of our order for his political views.

Second, We regard the continued supremacy of the white race, throughout our whole country as of the most vital importance, and of more concern than any questions that exist, or that can possibly arise concerning finance, economy, or other matters of public policy.

Third, While we will not indulge in personalities, nor condemn any man for his political views, we assert, that for the safety of our people, we can at this time have but two political parties, the now existing ones, in the South.

Fourth, That we will repudiate all persons, whether in our order or out of it, who attempt to poison the public mind, so as to jeopardize the present white supremacy in the South.

Fifth, Thoughtfully, the Anderson Alliance now puts itself on record, that it will never favor or endorse any movement which tends to threaten a dividing of our people more than now exists, which division we clearly see can but mean a disruption of the now solid South. We will remain united, discussing men and measures in the family, the white family.

Influenced by a spirit of patriotism, we wish these proceedings to go to the country.

COTTON BELOW THE COST OF PRODUCTION.

The Southern Farmer:
Pardon us for addressing you. Our apology is our profound solicitude for your welfare. Not only the merchants are interested in your success, but every class of people, from the banker to the fruit dealer, must confess that the success and prosperity of our country depend on its agricultural prosperity.

When our fields yield their increase, everything has a basis of life and success. In reality, vocations do not conflict; each depends on the other; and the farmer should occupy his proper place—king of the financial world. He should be the most independent man in the world. But can we look at the mortgage on the farms and the condition of the farmer, without asking: What is the matter with our farmers?

Many of our farmers are unable to meet their debts. They have hoped against hope. No class of people work harder, use as much economy and have less. The farmer's economy often amounts to a sacrifice, that he may keep his head above the water. Their children in many instances are kept from the public schools in order to help lift the "Nightmare" of debt. Yet, for all this tolling, planning, economizing, what can the farmers show in return? What is the trouble? Something is radically wrong. Can we find a remedy? Amid all the clouds can we not see a "silver lining"? Is there no hope for better days for the Southern farmer? Can the desert place be made to rejoice? We think there is a remedy. We desire to emphasize what we regard as the cause which has brought about such a condition. "The price of cotton is below the cost of production." And this is the trouble. Farmers may work and economize and like Tennyson's "brooker" go on forever; but as long as they raise cotton when the price is below the cost of production, there will be stagnation and agricultural death.

Cotton is said to be king; if so our king has been very unkind to his subjects; for he has not paid his subjects for their devotion to his welfare. The question presents itself—and it is the question above all questions for the Southern farmer: How CAN WE RAISE THE PRICE OF COTTON TO A LIVING BASIS?

The reason cotton is selling below the cost of production is found in the fact that the production in 1890 was greater than the consumption. The world could not consume what was raised last year. The remedy, we think, is to reduce production by the reduction of acreage. Let every farmer say that in 1892 we will plant one-third less cotton than in 1891.

Let the farmers rallying cry for 1892 be one-third less acreage in cotton and better prices for same. The farmer will then have time to change his meat market from Chicago to his own place and his corn crib will be found at home instead of the West. Let every farmer sign a written contract to plant, in 1892, one-third less acreage in cotton than in 1891. This plan, we are sure, will give you time to raise other products than cotton and move the price of cotton from 7 and 8 cents to 10 and 11 cents in 1892.

Will not the Alliance utilize this suggestion? Let there be no delay in the agitation. We are in earnest. Something must be done.

Let every lodge call an early meeting and require each member to sign a written contract that he will plant one-third less acreage in 1892, and that each lodge appoint a committee to visit each farm next spring and see that the contract is kept; and when parties fail to comply with the resolution, let them be expelled as traitors to the farming interests.

Let us ask the planters of the Mississippi Valley and Red River Basin to join us in this great movement to raise cotton so that the price will be above the cost of production. We appeal to our fellow merchants to turn none away because of this reduction of acreage. The farmers' success is yours, giving us life and enterprise.

We speak for ourselves that, under no circumstances will we turn any one away on account of this reduction in acreage. We ask our commission merchants in New Orleans, Galveston and other great cotton centers to help us to assist the farmers in this movement, and thereby raise the price of cotton above the cost of production. We believe they will.

Come, cheer up, toil-worn farmers; we believe there is a better day for you. The clouds of financial depression are already parting and the light of hope can be seen.

With best wishes for your success and the assurance that your prosperity will give us great pleasure, we are

Yours Very Sincerely,

W. S. HOWARD & CO.

Hazlehurst, Miss., Oct. 20th, 1891

Campbell on the Tariff.

Governor Campbell, of Ohio, appears to be nearer a freetrader than Cleveland or Blaine. In his speech at Westerville the 10th, he called attention to the fact that the Mills bill only reduced the rate of taxation on imported goods from about 47 per cent. of their value to about 42 per cent.; and then he said: "It was a great deal smaller reduction than we will make again if we get into power. If any of you think a five per cent. reduction in the tariff is enough, you had better not vote for me." This was in a republican stronghold, where Senator Sherman had spoken a few days before in explanation and defense of the McKinley act.—Field and Inquirer.

It is said that the banks of New York city have more money than they know what to do with, and is accumulating at such a rapid rate as to be alarming to capitalists. The head of a leading financial house on Broadway is quoted as saying that:

"During the past few days we have been compelled to do some pretty lively work in the way of drumming up customers to borrow from us our surplus cash. Any person who can give good security need have no difficulty in obtaining loans at a moderate rate of interest. The principal demand for capital at present comes from the South."

And it is said that capital is timid about coming in this direction just now, on account of the disturbed political condition and the wild, visionary, impracticable legislation that is being demanded all in favor of one class.—Montgomery Advertiser.
